

Human Resources Development

CONSULTING SERVICES

For a growing company, finding excellent employees is an ongoing recruitment challenge.

To assist companies, GESS International offers consulting services to help companies develop or enhance their in-house recruiting capability.

Many leading companies are revolutionizing their recruitment strategies in Japan by building an internal recruiting capability into their organization, thereby lowering costs and building an effective - and up-to-date - data library on prospective candidates within their industry.

GESS International has partnered with these companies to help them optimize their human resource management. The result is significant cost savings and a consistent pipeline of superior, pre-screened human talent.

To learn how GESS International can help you manage your future recruitment requirements, please click here .